

Occupational Therapy Services for Play

CBabies, toddlers, and children learn through play. Children of all ages can receive occupational therapy services to help them learn how to explore their environment, play with toys, and play with other people.

Occupational therapy practitioners work with children to:

- Use their imagination
- Learn how to cooperate with others
- Follow the rules of a game
- Play with other children and in groups
- Manage emotions when things don't go their way
- Try new things
- Explore interests and identify play preferences
- Play on playgrounds
- Use adapted toys
- Stop playing and clean up toys

What You Can Do

Ask yourself if your child needs help with play

Ask your child's pediatrician about occupational therapy services
